

Alex Cash to Serve as Secretary/Treasurer of South Carolina Association for Justice

August 1, 2013

Rosen Hagood is pleased to announce that Alex Cash, a member the firm, has been elected by his peers to serve as the Secretary/Treasurer of South Carolina Association for Justice (SCAJ). The Board of Governors of SCAJ is responsible for establishing policy decisions, helping administer programs/seminars, and promoting the goals of SCAJ.

Mr. Cash practices primarily in the areas of family law, including divorce, custody, support issues, property division, and all other related financial matters, and personal injury. He has been admitted to practice in the United States District Court for the District of South Carolina and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. He is a member of the South Carolina Association for Justice, the South Carolina Bar, Family Law Section, for the American Bar Association, and the American Association for Justice. Mr. Cash graduated from Florida State University, earned his Masters in Music from Indiana University and received his law degree from the University of North Carolina.

The South Carolina Association for Justice is a statewide organization with over 1300 members dedicated to advocating for fairness under the law. The organization seeks to uphold and defend the constitution as well as represent those who are harmed by the actions of others.