

Jessica McDonald Achieves Nationally Accredited Certified Paralegal Credential

June 8, 2026

Please join us in congratulating Jessica McDonald on passing the Certified Paralegal (CP®) Exam and earning the prestigious Certified Paralegal credential!

This achievement reflects Jessica's dedication to professional excellence and her commitment to the legal profession. Administered by NALA – The Paralegal Association, the Certified Paralegal program is a nationally accredited certification recognized as a benchmark of paralegal knowledge, skill, and professionalism. The credential is widely respected throughout the legal community and has been recognized by the American Bar Association as a mark of high professional achievement.

The CP® Exam is a rigorous, two-part assessment designed to evaluate both legal knowledge and practical skills. Candidates must first pass a comprehensive Knowledge Exam covering key areas of paralegal practice before advancing to the Skills Exam, which tests the ability to analyze facts, identify legal issues, apply legal authority, and communicate persuasive legal conclusions in writing.

“Earning the Certified Paralegal designation demonstrates a high level of competence, professionalism, and commitment to ongoing growth in the legal field,” said Andrew Gowdown, Co-Managing Member at Rosen Hagood. “We are proud of Jessica for reaching this important career milestone and look forward to her continued success.”

Congratulations, Jessica, on this outstanding accomplishment!
