Key Components of a Good Subcontract

February 5, 2019

Rosen Hagood partner, Chip Bruorton, recently had his article, "Key Components of a Good Subcontract" published in Catalyst Surety Partners' 2018 Construction Journal. In the article, Chip discusses the importance of having carefully drafted construction subcontracts, including provisions governing payment, indemnification, delay claims, and alternative dispute resolution.

Chip is a battle-tested construction lawyer, with extensive experience representing private and public owners, architects, contractors, construction managers, subcontractors and bonding companies, where he serves as lead trial counsel in addition to assisting with contract negotiation and drafting.
