Rene Stuhr Dukes Featured by The American Bar

April 25, 2019

Charleston, SC -Rene Stuhr Dukes, a member of Rosen Hagood's family law practice group, was recently featured by the American Bar in connection with the pro bono work she performed in the aftermath of the 2015 mass shooting tragedy at Charleston's Mother Emmanuel AME Church. In a complicated child custody matter, Dukes successfully represented the sister of Rev. DePayne Middleton-Doctor, one of the nine victims of the shooting, in gaining custody of Middleton-Doctor's two youngest children, both of whom wished to live with their aunt.
